WHY THE ALLIES MUST WIN.

AWKWARD FIGURES FOR GERMAN CONSUMPTION.

Colonel Blak.

The Paris correspondent of The Evening Standard writes:—

Those who still believe that military genius alone will suffice to win the war, and that clever generalship of the forces can give anything but momentary advantage, will do well to study a little booklet recently issued in France, which demonstrates that the war is one of exhaustion and resistance.

"Go many" thorough and methodical preparation has enabled the Kaiser to prolong the struggle and to carry off some military successes but no matter how many such successes there will be to the credit of the German army, no matter how long the Germans will be able to protect the struggle, there is no escape for them from "not defeat," commented M. Armand Coqueville, one of the best known students of political economy in France.

Let us proceed to facts. The total population of Germany is 68,000,000, without counting the 15,000,000 inhabitants of her colonies, who have no means even if they had the desire to help the mother country; Austria counts 50,000,000, and Germany 68,000,000. The grand total of the population of these three Allies is consequently 140,000,000.

"On the other hand, Great Britain's population is represented by a total of 45,000,000, that of France by 38,000,000, that of Russia by 180,000,000, of Japan by 60,000,000, of Belgium by 8,000,000, of Serbia by 3,000,000, and of Italy by 35,000,000, in all 570,000,000, to which must be added the population of the Colonies, or 368,000,000 for Great Britain, 50,000,000 for France, and 15,000,000 for Belgium. The total of the population of the countries of the Allies reaches consequently 1,000,000,000, nearly six times the population of the Austro-German-Turkish countries.

"Next comes the question of territories, a more strictly speaking, of the agricultural and mineral resources. The Austro-German-Turkish countries possess about 7,000,000 square kilometers, distributed in this way: Germany 540,000, her colonies 2,800,000, Austria 660,000, and Turkey 3,000,000; not one must deduct the colonial possessions of Germany, since the latter can in no way draw any advantage from them. In this way, the territory held by the Kaiser and his Allies reaches a total of approximately 4,200,000 square miles.

"Measured in square miles, the territory held and utilized by the Allies is represented by a total of nearly 80,000,000 square kilometers, distributed as follows: Great Britain 300,000, her colonies 10,000,000; France 600,000, her colonies 10,000,000; Italy 300,000, her colonies 10,000,000; Japan 300,000, her colonies 10,000,000; Belgium 30,000, her colonies 10,000,000; Serbia 30,000, her colonies 10,000,000; and Russia 20,000,000. In other words, the territory of the Allies is twenty times as large as that held by the Austro-German-Turkish countries.

WOMEN REPLACE MEN.

CASES WHERE WORK IS BETTER DONE.

Employers Interviewed:

The employment of women laborers in place of the men who have flocked to the colors has not only raised its peculiar crop of difficulties such as are inherent in all new industrial situations, but has also discovered new industrial values in women themselves. Of the troubles, says The Standard, the strike of carriage cleaners on one of the great railways is a case in point. The women demanded the minimum wage paid to men for same class of work. The men, although not expecting to get the same amount of work, demanded that they should at least work the same number of hours. "The women declined to do it," said a prominent railway official. "We employ women in various capacities, and it is not a question of application, or diligence, or carefulness. In these respects women are at least equal to men. But take the case of a railway station. As packing or carrying heavy parcels, such as suitcases, trunks, and boxes, and we have to make special arrangements to meet this difficulty. We also lighten the work as far as possible, for a girl has not as much stamina as a boy. There is an art in selling, and some of the girls are showing remarkable aptitude in this direction."

"Mr. Gordon Selbridge, who has lost upwards of 500 of his staff since the outbreak of war, has filled up the gaps with women and girls, and finds the change quite satisfactory. All the lift and carriage door attendants are women, and women are being largely utilized to dust furniture. The present lift attendants are much better than the boys formerly employed, says Mr. Selbridge, because they are more mature, and require no special training. The lift attendants are from 15 to 18 years of age, and require no special training. The lift attendants are from 15 to 18 years of age, and require no special training. The lift attendants are from 15 to 18 years of age, and require no special training."

"This change of labour has taught us certain things. While we shall faithfully keep our promise to re-instate in this house those who have enlisted, there are certain positions, recently opened to women, which women will continue to fill. For example, we never thought of having women furniture cleaners before the war. Furniture and other goods of that description have to be dusted all day long, and

A WOMAN'S HEALTH.

Every woman's health is peculiarly dependent upon the condition of her blood. How many women suffer with headache, pain in the back, poor appetite, weak digestion, a constant feeling of weariness, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, pallor and nervousness? If you have any of these symptoms, do not despair of getting better but begin now, to-day, to build up your blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. See how the nervous energy of the body is restored as the blood becomes pure and red and the entire system is strengthened to meet every demand upon it.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are useful for all women, but they are particularly valuable to girls of school age who show symptoms of going into a decline, who become pale, nervous and languid. These Pills insure perfect development and health by strengthening the system and purifying and building up the blood. Thin blood, during the growing years of a girl's life, usually means a flat-chested and hollow-chested woman. These Pills insure perfect health and beauty without red blood which gives brightness to the eyes and colour to the cheeks and lips. Get a bottle of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from your dealer at once or send direct to Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 20, Sackville Road, Shanghai, $1.50 for 1 bottle or $2.50 for 2 bottles, post free.

Write now to the same address for the helpful booklet, "Plain Talks to Women."

these little women are quibbative, intelligent, and efficient. We should not think of returning to men. In this department, as elsewhere, we hold to the principle of the same pay for equal work, irrespective of sex.

A similar experience has fallen to a large West-end hotel that has opened since the war. Nine-tenths of the staff, numbering about 1,200, are women and girls. They do not do as much work, nor work for such long hours, as would men and boys in the same grades, but a larger staff is engaged. This increases the wages bill considerably. But the manager says, the girls are happy, and a superior class of employee is attracted. About five and a-half days a week is the average time put in by the girls. "Not only do the girls work as well," said the manager, "but also the public like them better. Our clients are more considerate to a waitress or a page-girl than to a man or a boy."

Women in the place of men have also entered into Church life. A well known religious leader, whose younger offspring had nearly all enlisted, recently appointed to the rectory, and even appointed women trustees. "I am delighted at the change," said he. "They are more diligent, more earnest in their attention to trivialities, and they are more careful of church property. I will admit that an efficient woman in any public position is the last trial of the saint, but a competent woman, on the other hand, saves a host of worries."

TEUTONIC AIMS.

"What God Will Give us Shall Be German."

Professor Sleeswyk, of the pro-German Teutonist, has been in Berlin, and there gained the conviction that the German Government does not think of annexing Belgium. The utmost which Germany would demand is that Belgium must become a tributary State, and Professor Sleeswyk, "The Telegraph" remarks, is also of opinion that a similar status would be beneficial to Holland.

Meanwhile the Cologne correspondent of the "Tyd" gives the assurance that the entire world will be surprised at Germany's generosity with regard to Belgium. Not only will Belgium regain her liberty, but she will also receive "a cart-load full of millions." "The Telegraph" recommends both writers to read the newspaper published by the Hannoverische Maschinenbau Aktiengesellschaft at Hannover-Linden. Its July number contains a speech by the deputy Herr Paul Fuhrmann, held in the Stadische Saal, at Essen. The keynote of the whole speech was "we shall conquer," and "we must keep what we have won and endeavour to win much more."

Herr Fuhrmann continued that Germany had entered the war without sufficient stocks of provisions and raw material for her industries, and declared that there was sufficient proof that the German Empire did not provoke the war. Germany's chief enemy, Herr Fuhrmann finally pointed out, was not Russia or England, but France. He felt ashamed that his people did not yet hate the French, and still hoped that peace would bring a lasting reconciliation. "With regard to Russia, who was an enemy, he said, against which Germany once more had to arm herself."

Towards England there could be no question of "German sentimentality," and there could be still less towards Belgium. "We have Belgium, we are in Belgium, and we remain in Belgium," he said, "and this is for the entire German people—at least, its great majority—and, above all, for those in the trenches, a matter of course. Alluding to German Kultur, Herr Fuhrmann said: "For German Kultur we will gain national ground. The free sea, the new light straits, the international cables we do not want to have guaranteed by agreements at a moment when scraps of scraps of international laws are flying all over the world. We shall only regard them as guaranteed if we can place them on the point of our sword."

In conclusion, Herr Fuhrmann gave the whole programme as regards Belgium: "The forts of the Meuse, Antwerp, and the Flemish coast, and everything further God will give us, shall be German, and remain German."

Edited and published by S. KURIKI.

The first (1913) edition is already used.
Biographies of over 5,000 people who are well-known in society and several hundred foreigners associated with Japan appear in the book. Quite new material and accurate sketches, both being entirely free from prejudice.

Many portraits are inserted. The book contains over 1,400 pages.

The price is yen 6 (12/6) or $3 per copy.
Orders for the book should be accompanied by payment.

Subscribers for the second annual edition of "Who's Who in Japan" will be allowed a reduction of one yen.

The registered postage is 18 cents, to Korea and China 40 cents and to Europe & America 70 cents or 85 cents.

It is a GOOD ADVERTISING MEDIUM.

Many influential papers of the world noticed this work in the highest terms.

For example, The Daily Mail says:—
"Yet another 'Who's Who' and this time from Japan! The reader is apt first to regard it as a curiosity, as a sign that the East has now become Western practically almost to the last detail. But Who's Who in Japan is far more than a curiosity; it is a very sound and useful reference book. It is printed in English and contains brief biographies, on the accepted model of prominent men in Japan.
Mr. Kuriki is a skilful editor and has done his work well."

WAR BEHIND THE WAR.

CALL FOR A GREAT NATIONAL CRUSADE.

A Talk With General Booth.

Harold Begbie writes in the Daily Chronicle—

William Booth—that mighty old man with the heart of a child—did what no Englishman had ever done before him, did the one thing no Englishman was supposed capable of doing; he established an international religion. Alone among all the religious organizations in these islands, the Salvation Army is international.

The son of William Booth reigns in his stead, and finds just now his international religion buffeted by the winds of war. He of all religious leaders in this country is most concerned by the international character of the war. German Salvationists are shooting English Salvationists, and Russian Salvationists are shooting Austrian Salvationists. The General of the Salvation Army, like the Pope in Rome, must keep his head. He keeps it, I think, very well.

Picture him to yourself seated at the green baize table in his dark blue frock coat fringed with black, a crimson and gold collar for the neck, and crimson and gold straps for the shoulders. The long white hair brushed over the top of his head, tending to stand upright. The black eyebrows are for ever going up and down. The brown eyes never for a moment express the same feeling. The small, pursed mouth works like a trigger at utterance. The rather puffy and ivory coloured face becomes suffused with colour as he proceeds. And it is not so much in the quick and passionate gestures of the hands or in the ceaseless movements of the body, as in the energy, the fire, the vitality and the changing expression of this almost feminine face, so like his mother's, that you become aware of the methodical activity of the man's mind. He is the antipodes of humbug and cant. Deeply and blazingly he feels the truth of religion. Violently and angrily he rebels against coldness of heart and deadness of spirit.

I asked him how the international character of the Salvation Army had been affected by the war.

He replied, "War has strengthened the spirit of internationalism. Throughout the neutral nations there is a fresh enthusiasm for the work of the Salvation Army. In Germany the Salvation Army is expressing renewed loyalty to the international idea. Some of the relief work in Germany is administered through the Salvation Army, and although the German Government has naturally cut up the great number of our German people, still have left a considerable body of the men whose services in the administration of charity—feeding starving children and so on—is felt to be valuable. In Belgium all our officers, with only two exceptions, are at their posts. Meetings are held, relief work is going on, but the meetings are now of a strange character—there is no singing. These poor people can't summon up enough joy to sing. It moves me to tears."

BEHIND THE SCENES OF THE WAR.

He is behind the scenes of this war in a very remarkable degree, and I suppose he is more acquainted than any other man in the world with the full tale of horror and agony caused by this universal slaughter. He told me certain unprintable things which made my blood run cold. And yet hear him when this war is spoken of as evidence against faith in a Supreme Being. "This war," he said, "is nothing like so bad as it is made out to be. It is a war of bodies and souls, destruction of lands and houses—wrought by drink, prostitution, and sweating? People who accepted without a murmur the atrocious suffering caused by these enemies of the human race suddenly wake up now and ask, 'How can you believe in a God with Christians killing Christians and Europe deluged with blood? Has Christian never killed Christian till now? What nonsense they talk! This war is nothing—nothing compared with the murderous slaughter of sin. God does not work like an efficient in the moral sphere. God is omnipotent; but omnipotence cannot make five of two and two, or make a lie a truth. Why does God permit this war? Why does He permit sin? God is not responsible for war. Man is responsible. And war is here, spreading anguish, destitution, wretchedness, and sorrow incalculable, from the very same cause which allows sin to work a worse havoc among the human race."

He sat forward in his chair, and said, "Neglect of God—that is the cause. I see this war as a passing event, by which all men who truly believe in God may, if they will honestly and fearlessly use the law the nations to realise man's need of Christ. Wars come about through a certain state of society. It is no saying Germany would dominate. Every nation wants something very much like that. Every nation in its policy affirms the heretical principles of materialism. Almost every body who is descended from some European Viking (He, men of all nations, our own as well as others, have forgotten God. They are materialists. They don't believe in the Divine. They are after prosperity, and their only god is Mammon. Nothing can save them but a return to God. Men say 'After the war all will be changed, and when you press them you find they are speaking of political changes—Socialism, and the rest. But there's an old saying in the North of Scotland, 'Now boat, old rooks. No political changes can bring the millennium. No internationalising of our can prevent strikes and wars. 'What you want in your boat, new or old, is a captain, and unless you have got the Almighty on the bridge you'll go to pieces on the very same rocks which made shipwreck of your former state."

He told me that all over the world men are now looking to this great British Empire and wondering in what new form it will emerge from war. "I have been immensely impressed," he told me, "by all the reports which reach me from foreign countries concerning this matter. They want to know how we shall manage our selves, how we shall reconstruct ourselves. What a chance for the churches! Just think for a moment what our influence might be in the world if the whole British Empire was organised on a Christian foundation. And why isn't it so organised? Don't we profess ourselves to be Christian nation? Have we announced ourselves as a nation of atheists? Have we made a national renunciation of God? But who can say that we are in heart and mind 'With a revolution could compare with such a revolution as this. It would bring heaven to earth, and unless we bring heaven to earth, we shall always have hell on earth—bitterness and hatred, jealousy and anger, tyrannies and oppressions, greed and sin. 'What, but what is the opportunity for the churches? It is a part of my religion to deny other religions, but I can't help feeling that too many of the churches, instead of using this war as an opportunity to convert men to the religion of Jesus Christ, are only struggling to associate their particular brand of the church with the patriotism of the moment. I want to see an immense crusade against sin. I want a fiery crusade against national apostasy. I want to see this great nation converted to God."

ENGLAND OR RUSSIA?

Is it to be England or will it be Russia, that leads the way?

Dostoevsky said in 1871 that Russia's great contribution to the civilisation of Europe was to be the contribution of the Russian Church—a very different thing from the average English parish. Just recently the Salvation Army has opened its work in Russia, and, supported by the municipality of Petrograd, is making headway among the people of the slums. Some years ago, when William Booth was in Russia, a peasant heard of the Salvation Army as a religion that could cure drunkenness, and walked 1,200 miles to be converted. He was converted, he lost all taste for drink, and he walked back the 1,200 miles to his home a new man. His conversion remains a fact to this day. Of such is the people of Russia.

Let me give you an idea of the Salvation Army creed by narrating an incident from France. Two ladies sang recently at an entertainment, given in one of the huts. They were rather badly known, and they sang the usual vulgar songs from contemporary comic opera. At the conclusion of the entertainment a young sergeant was called upon to propose a vote of thanks. He fulfilled this duty quite civilly, but added, "At the same time, I should like to say that many of us would have preferred songs which would have given us something to think about on our way up to the front." To the Salvationists, the singing of comic songs in the face of death, and in the midst of suffering and pain, is simply unthinkable.

SALVATIONISTS IN THE TRENCHES.

"Do people know," Brian Wall Booth exclaimed, "how eager the soldiers are to talk about serious things? Our officers out there send home the most touching stories of the British soldier, showing how deeply he feels, how seriously he takes this war, and how faithfully he fulfils his duty. How wonderfully merry of God. How wonderfully human they are! 'Tell me, wife,' said a dying soldier to one of our officers, 'that I did for my King and country, but I died for the children, too. They kiss the hands of our officers. 'Tell me, wife, that I did for my mother. Such men as these—do they want comic songs before they go into the trenches? Don't people realise that the British Army is largely made up now of men who have suffered for the greatest motives? Would Cromwell's soldiers have fought better if fashionable women had sung comic songs to them? Isn't this spirit among us proof positive that we really don't know what religion is, that we have given religion up? Comic songs—does any rational man suppose that comic songs are better for courage such interference only engenders bitterness and does ultimate harm.

(8) That thorough organisation of both capital and labour is essential to the smooth working of the industries, and that where this is the case, disputes are generally settled by negotiations between the parties themselves.

(9) That disputes frequently arise from an exaggerated estimate of the return on capital, and that schemes for ascertaining this return should be promoted, as exaggerated views often lead to unreasonable demands.

(10) That the Industrial Council, which was appointed by the Government in 1911, and which is composed of an equal representation of capital and labour, with a non-political chairman, has not been utilised since the outbreak of war, that no adequate explanation of this has been offered, and that the valuable report of its enquiry into industrial agreements has not been made use of.

(11) That the enforcement of compulsory arbitration where large bodies of men are concerned is an impossibility, and that an inquiry into the merits of a dispute by experienced men representing capital and labour, and the publicity given to its findings, would, together with public opinion generally, supply the only effective compulsion.

(12) That trade union limitation of output is against the best interests of labour.

(13) That official representatives of labour are generally men of capacity and fairness, deserving of the confidence of the rank and file.

(14) That the effect of the war upon industries has been varied, and that any war bonus or wages advance should only be granted after full investigation by leaders of capital and labour.

In conclusion, Sir Charles said: So far as the British nation—I might say Empire—is concerned, the greater the difficulties to be faced, the greater the energy and determination to overcome them. It is fervently to be hoped that such an arduous is now taking place, and that everyone is being made to feel the seriousness of the situation, and that all classes must be prepared to make any sacrifice that may be necessary to ensure the speedy and victorious termination of the unprecedented struggle in which we and our Allies are engaged in defence of freedom and civilisation.

INDUSTRIAL PEACE.

Means of Harmonising Capital and Labour.

At the meeting of the British Association at Manchester a paper was read by Sir Charles Macara on Capital and Labour and means for promoting industrial peace. After reviewing the conditions in the cotton industry, Sir Charles said he had endeavoured to show:—

(1) That harmonious relationship between Capital and Labour is always of the utmost importance, and that at a time of great national crisis it is supremely so.

(2) That in order to cope with such a colossal task as that by which the Government was confronted the task would have been lightened and much would have been gained had they at once enlisted the assistance of experienced industrial organisers and co-ordinated all existing organisations.

(3) That the United Kingdom is as well organised as any other nation, and had there been effective co-operation of the industrial, commercial, financial, scientific, transport, and labour interests with the Government from the commencement of the war the position in every respect to-day would have been vastly better than it is.

(4) That by the co-ordination of these interests the problems connected with the supply of the necessities of life and with the undue raising of prices of commodities might have been coped with much more successfully than they have been.

(5) That this rise in the prices of commodities has undoubtedly been the main factor in creating industrial unrest.

(6) That the only object in calling attention to the errors of the past is that we might profit by the experience gained, and so, utilize to the utmost the vast resources at disposal.

(7) That the interference by politicians with industrial disputes is to be strongly deprecated, often leading to inconclusive settlements, it being impossible for them to have the necessary knowledge of the intricacies of the different industries or their varied conditions of working; that

LATEST NEWS FROM THE BALKANS.

FRANCO-BRITISH TROOPS FORGING AHEAD.

LONDON, Nov. 8. In a telegram from Salonica with reference to the operations on the line from Gradsko to a point north of Lake Doiran where the British are fighting with the French, the General Staff states that the action is continuing north-east of Strumnitza. The French are advancing northward and the British are co-operating on their right.

The French repulsed a violent Bulgarian attack on the left bank of the Dardanelles and have now extended along the Vardar as far as Gradsko and westwards to Crnaya. The Russian of the Vardar at Crnaya was a serious obstacle but the French crossed the left bank and occupied two villages.

There is an artillery duel in the region of Valandovo in which the Serbians are participating. It continued throughout the 6th inst. the French guns devastating the Bulgarian ranks and compelling them to fall back.

It is reported that the Serbians secured the advantage over the Bulgarians in the region of Vranja.

The disembarkation of Allied troops is proceeding.

WHAT BERLIN CLAIMS.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 8. A Berlin communiqué claims that Austro-German troops have entered Kruchevatz, thirty miles north-west of Nish; thus important Austro-German and Bulgarian forces almost meeting.

It is also claimed that 3000 unwounded Serbians were captured at Kruchevatz and that 1500 wounded were found in hospitals.

It is also stated that ten guns and some war material was taken.

GERMAN CRUISER SUNK.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 8. A Berlin official message states that the cruiser Undine, while patrolling off the south coast of Sweden, was sunk by two torpedoes from a submarine.

Almost all the crew were saved.

The "Undine" was a protected cruiser of 2357 tons and 8000 horse power, carrying ten 4.1 in. guns and sixteen quick-firing of a smaller type. She was completed in 1904.—Ed.

BRITISH NAVAL TENDER SUNK.

LONDON, Nov. 8. The Admiralty announces that the armed naval tender "Tara" was attacked by two enemy submarines in the Eastern Mediterranean and sunk. Thirty-four of the crew are missing.

WESTERN FRONT.

PARIS, Nov. 8. A communiqué states that there is nothing to report.

BRITISH TRADE RETURNS.

MORE SATISFACTORY FIGURES.

LONDON, Nov. 8. A welcome feature of the trade returns for the month of October is that the balance of trade against the United Kingdom is reduced by only three-quarters of a million, compared with the preceding month. The grain imports fell to half a million in value owing to the shortage of the supply of wheat from India, and meat fell to two millions.

A feature of the imports over ten months is the increase of nearly 25 million pounds in quantity and one and a half million pounds in value. Of tea we received upwards of 20 million pounds from India, the cotton imports were increased by nearly three millions sterling, and rubber by half a million.

The chief increases in exports are iron, steel, woolen and cotton goods.

LATEST NEWS FROM THE EASTERN FRONT.

LONDON, Nov. 8. A telegram from Petrograd says that the tactics employed by the Russians on the occasion of their latest victory, mentioned on November 11th, are typical of those now adopted by both sides on the Eastern Front, namely short sharp dashes with rapidly concentrated forces at carefully selected points. On this occasion the German reserves were not moved rapidly enough. Every day makes it more improbable that the Germans will be able to winter comfortably at Riga or Dvinsk. The peasant predictions of an early winter were fulfilled to-day, there being fourteen degrees of frost at Petrograd. A telegram from Kiev says that owing to their reverses in Galicia the Germans have been forced to send reinforcements there at the expense of other sections on the Eastern Front. Prisoners state that the Austrians have begun to remove stores from Kovel and Lemberg. A message from Petrograd says the Russian cavalry with light artillery are doing magnificent work against General Linington. They have penetrated westward of Kovel, and already have taken over two thousand prisoners. Russian infantry in the Olinka district have made a series of successful attacks, also supported by light guns.

(Havas Service.)

PARIS, Nov. 3. Petrograd—We progressed towards Raibovo. We crossed the Strypa near Smotkivize taking more than 3500 prisoners. West of Rafalovka, we took 712 prisoners, 3 machine guns and 2 guns.

Rome—In Doimo valley we captured the positions of Malgast, boletto. In the Saint Michele zone we captured entrenchments, taking 154 prisoners also important stock of ammunition.

THE AMERICAN NOTE.

Press Comment.

LONDON, Nov. 8.

The Press takes a strong line regarding the long-expected American Note presented to Great Britain in the week-end, objecting to Britain's methods of dealing with neutral shipping, refusing to accept the blockade as ineffective and indefensible, and complaining of the obstacles to the trade of neutrals.

The papers regard the complaint in regard to the ineffectiveness of the blockade as unfounded, particularly in view of the submarine achievements in the Baltic Sea, and especially point out the methods adopted by Great Britain are merely an adaptation of the American system, followed in the Civil War. Regret is universally expressed at interference with the trade of neutrals, but the present course, it is contended, will be best for all in the long run. Germany must feel that we have her by the throat. We cannot be expected to commit suicide.

LORD KITCHENER'S MISSION.

Visiting the Dardanelles, Egypt and Macedonia.

PARIS, Nov. 8.

An important statement in the Paris Press throws more light on Lord Kitchener's mission. It emphasises that, having arrived at a thorough understanding with the French Government, Lord Kitchener is proceeding to the Dardanelles, Egypt, and Macedonia. He will then review the various fronts where fighting is proceeding or may occur, and then will report to London and Paris the result of his investigations, which, it is hoped, will achieve complete co-ordination of the efforts of the Allies and perhaps lead to plans at present unforeseen.

NEW GREEK PREMIER AND THE ENTENTE.

LONDON, Nov. 8.

The Times' correspondent at Athens says that the new Greek Premier, M. Spiliotis, interviewed, said he proposed to observe "a very benevolent attitude towards the Entente."

THE REV. F. T. JOHNSON.

(To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL.")

7, Mountain View, Peak,

9th November, 1915.

SIR,—It has been suggested to me that many of the friends of the Rev. F. T. Johnson, the former Chaplain of St. John's Cathedral, would be glad to subscribe for a present to be given to him on his approaching marriage.

I shall be very glad to receive and acknowledge subscriptions of any sums for the purpose.

As Rev. Johnson was so deservedly popular in the Colony I am unable to communicate personally with all his friends, so I take advantage of your hospitable columns to invite donations. The form of the present will be decided later.

Yours faithfully,

ERNEST BOWLEY.

BOYRIL FOR THE TROOPS.

(To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL.")

From Miss Gladys Storey (daughter of the Royal Academician).

SIR,—On behalf of our splendid troops I am appealing again this year to the public at home and abroad for donations in order to keep up the supply of Boyril for those in the firing line. In doing so I tender to the Press my sincere thanks for their assistance in giving publicity to my Fund. I only wish it were possible to quote here the expressions of appreciation I have received from officers and men for this gift which has been dispatched to them by week since last December. Sufficient has been sent to provide for more than a quarter of a million men. This gift for the troops has received the gracious interest and approval of Her Majesty the Queen.

Generals have written from the front to express their own gratitude and that of their men for the supplies already sent. I shall be pleased to receive from the readers of this letter the names of regiments in which they are most interested. And I will, by rotation, as funds permit, send supplies of Boyril to them.

To commence the second year of my Fund I have been presented with £1000 donation. I will acknowledge with gratitude all donations large or small.

Individual contributions for any regiment may be sent immediately in the donor's name on receipt of 25 or 27 will supply a battalion.

Collecting cards will be forwarded to individuals' schools and other institutions upon application and a stamped addressed envelope.

Yours faithfully,

GLADYS STOREY.

UNIVERSITY ENGINEERING SOCIETY.

FIRST ANNUAL DINNER.

Last night, at the Yuen Restaurant, the University Engineering Society held its first annual dinner. The guests of the evening were Mr. Arthur Preese, of the firm of Preese, Carlew, Shall and Rider, Westminster, who are Hon. Consulting Engineers (London) to the University, Professor Middleton Smith was the speaker and among those present were Sir Charles Eliot (Vice-Chancellor of the University), The Hon. Mr. Claud Severn (Colonial Secretary), R.M. Dyer, Esq., Dis. Jordan and Dwyer, Esq., Mr. F. Graham and Mr. Saw Whoo Seong (Chairman of the Society).

After the toast of the King and the President of the Chinese Republic had been duly honoured, one of the graduates, Mr. W. W. Chen, presented the toast, "The University." He said that it was only five years since the foundation stone was laid, and in that time very great progress had been made. It was almost impossible to realise that work had been done in so short a time. He felt quite sure that it was not generally recognised all over China that, if not in all, in certain branches of applied science work the University was the foremost educational institution in this great country.

He wished to say how very much he appreciated the presence of the Vice-Chancellor at their meetings. He believed that although at present only three provincial Governments of the Republic of China were sending students to the University, yet in time all of the eighteen provinces would send representatives.

Sir Charles Eliot, replying on behalf of the University, said how pleased everyone was to welcome Mr. Preese there that evening. He also wished to take the opportunity to thank the Government of the Colony for their generous help.

The Colonial Secretary had on many occasions rendered the University valuable help, and although people often spoke of the University as founded by private enterprise, it must always be remembered that the Government had been the beautiful site and grounds. They had not very long ago preserved some of the property to the East of the Hostel for the University, and he considered the grounds and position of the University one of its most valuable assets.

Mr. Saw Whoo Seong (a fourth year undergraduate in Engineering) proposed the toast of "our guests" in a most excellent speech. He referred to the distinguished career of Sir William Preese, the Father of their guests, and he explained that Mr. Arthur Preese had carried out in every way the high ideals of his profession which his father possessed. Mr. Preese had been educated at King's College, London, and had carried out his engineering work of great importance. His particular work of the Electrical Engineers. The firm had carried out the wireless installation at Stonecutter's, which was a link in the chain connecting Hongkong with other parts of the world. They had installed and supervised the dispatch of all of the valuable machinery and equipment sent to the University.

Mr. Arthur Preese, in his reply, especially thanked the proposer of the toast for his reference to his father. China was famous for the cult of ancestors, and ship, and in that he was heartily in sympathy. Anything that he had done for the University had been a very great pleasure and he was more than repaid for any little trouble by the knowledge that the students had such excellent facilities for instruction. Admirable as were the records of the Professors and Lecturers in Engineering in the University and splendid as was the apparatus, all of that would be useless unless the students applied themselves to their work with diligence. He was pleased to know from their Professors that such was the case.

The Hon. Mr. Claud Severn, in a humorous speech, proposed the health of the University Engineering Society. He referred to "the predatory instincts of the Chinese Engineer" and said he could think of no subject more worthy of his notice than the University. He had looked through the records of the Society which he thought was doing most admirable work. Especially did he refer to the visits to works, where the students could see the practical application of the principles covered in their lectures. He regretted that he had been unable to attend the meetings to which he had been often invited, but he hoped to come in the future. He referred to the practical application of mathematical principles when Mr. W. W. Chen, who was himself very much interested in the subject, and he hoped they would all understand the results of experiments on impacts when the batsman and bowler were met of varying quantity. He wished all good wishes for this important Society in the University.

The Chairman, after thanking Mr. Severn for his kind remarks about the Society, said that he felt that he must relate for the remarks made about him. A picture of the dark lamp and peaked cap, but as a fact all that he had been guilty of was of pointing out to various engineering friends in Great Britain that the Chinese people really were progressive and that by assisting the University with equipment they would help to develop the College of Hongkong. Mr. Severn often made practical experiments in submarine work, which exceeded those of Father Neptune himself, and it was hoped that when they had a department of aeroplanes engineering in the University, Mr. Severn would be one of the first to cultivate that branch of science. They hoped that he would be successful in his efforts for a swimming tank at the University. Professor Smith then referred to the indebtedness to Mr. Preese and said that with the exception of Mr. Dyer of Taikeo, there was no one who had done more for the engineering department than Mr. Preese. He appreciated greatly the presence of the Vice-Chancellor at their meetings, but he hoped that Sir Charles Eliot would not take up engineering as one of his hobbies or there would be no need for a Taikeo Professor. He referred to the kind help given by Mr. Dyer and then spoke of the engineer volunteer officers who were in command of the Engineering department during their night work on the search lights. He asked the students to remember that all of the lecturers were often on duty all night two or three times a week, and they carried on their duty with the same spirit as the volunteer officers. They must make such allowances. He went on to show that China was the Mecca of engineering work and he thought that now, after the war, would have a great future in that country.

CANTON NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Canton, November 7.

DISCUSSION PROHIBITED.

An order from Peking declares it an offence against the government for any citizen to be heard discussing the proposed change of the form of government and General Lung has sent out orders to all police to be on the alert to apprehend any person or persons violating this command. The general order states that the police master will be settled by the Central Government. Yet in its answer to the note of expatriation from the Japanese and British representatives, the Peking Government declares that the new system is being forced upon it by the unanimous wish of the Chinese people. A people who are thus taxed with arrest and punishment if overheard merely talking about the proper form of government for their own country are very apt to be forcing the hands of their superiors.

The method of ascertaining the "will of the people by vote" is also rather amusing. We presume the same method is made use of all over the country as in Kwang Tung. Here those who are to vote are selected by the officers in the most arbitrary fashion. Tickets are issued to those men and they are invited on a certain day to pay a call on the officials. Their tickets of admission are examined by several officers and at last they are admitted to an inner chamber where they are handed the kind of masked ballot they are to vote. Then they are escorted to a ballot box and there allowed to deposit the notes that show the President the "desires of the people." Is it any wonder the voting is unanimously in favour of what the officials want? This is the constant manner of finding out what the people wish. This is the way the President is being forced to change the government against his loudly expressed wishes. This is the rotten spot that is offered to the august European nations and they are supposed to swallow it and approve.

CUNYAT FOR SHIMEN.

At the request of the foreign Consuls, the Chinese Government has set aside a gunboat for the protection of Shimen from possible rioting and disturbance of the peace.

NEW OFFICE INSPECTORS.

A few months ago the old Inspectors were dismissed as useless. Now new ones have been appointed to establish inspection bureaux all over the province. The monopoly of the sale of opium has been granted and it is supposed the government intends in this way to aid the monopoly as much as possible.

CRUISER FOR HONG KONG.

A Portuguese cruiser is constantly stationed near Macao, but till recently no Chinese gunboat was there to uphold the claims of China in the disputed waters. Now a cruiser has been assigned to that duty and will be stationed at Wang Nam Island.

COW RUN AMUCK AT WONG NEE KATONG. While unloading some cattle from a train at Wong Nee Station a few days ago, a certain Mr. Ip saw a cow run out from the herd wildly. He tried to get her under control but the frightened animal turned upon him and killed him almost instantly. She then charged the crowd and injured nineteen people before she was shot by the police. A boy and old woman were seriously injured and had to be taken to a hospital.

WANTED TO SEE HIS GODFATHER.

Frank Aquino was charged at the Magistrate's court this morning before Mr. Lindell with being destitute. He said that he wanted to see his godfather and did not wish to go to the House of Detention.

Inspector Macdonald said that defendant had come up to Victoria Gaol the day before, with a letter to the chief warder, and he had given himself up, asking to be put in the House of Detention. He had been out of employment for two years, having been last in the employ of the Sanitary Board.

Defendant was sent to the House of Detention.
